Management Discussion on Fund Performance

Investment Objective and Strategies

The investment objective of the Arrow Canadian Advantage Alternative Class is to achieve superior capital appreciation over both short and long-term horizons primarily through the selection and management of a concentrated group of long and short positions in Canadian equity securities and equity derivative securities.

The Fund will use leverage. The leverage will be created through the use of cash borrowings, short sales and derivative contracts. The fund's leverage shall not exceed the limits on the use of leverage described in the "Investment Strategies" section in the simplified prospectus or as otherwise permitted under applicable securities legislation.

To achieve its investment objective, the Fund invests predominantly in large and mid-capitalization companies, but does not specialize in any one industry. The Fund may also invest in bonds and other debt instruments if warranted by financial conditions. The Fund may also invest in options, including put options or call options either in respect of a specific security or in respect of a stock exchange index as a means to reduce volatility. The Fund may also invest in foreign securities, but generally no more than 49% of the Fund's assets and it may invest in derivatives for hedging and non-hedging purposes.

The Fund is an alternative mutual fund whereby the specific strategies that differentiate this Fund from conventional mutual funds include: increased use of derivatives for hedging and non-hedging purposes, increased ability to sell securities short, and the ability to borrow cash to use for investment purposes.

Investment Risk

The risks of investing in the Fund remain as stated in the Fund's prospectus dated May 15, 2019. There were no material changes to the Fund over the period that affected the overall level or risk.

The Fund is suitable for investors who seek medium to long-term growth through a diversified portfolio of equity and fixed income securities. To invest in this Fund, investors should be able to accept a medium degree of risk.

Results of Operations

For the period ended June 30, 2019, Series F Shares of the Fund delivered a gain of 12.6% (3.3% gain in the period ended June 30, 2018) while the Canadian benchmark, the S&P/TSX Total Return Index, posted a gain of 16.2% (1.9% gain in the period ended June 30, 2018) for the same period. Please refer to the "Past Performance" section for the performance of the other Series. The performance of the other Series offered by the Fund differs from Series F largely because of varying levels of expenses charged to each series, as explained in the Management Fees section.

North American equity markets were in a rally mode in the first half of this year. Stocks began to recover from the sharp declines suffered last December as soon as Federal Reserve Chair Powell signaled a pause in further interest rate increases. It became clear that investors had viewed the Fed monetary tightness of late last year as inappropriate. They feared the meaningful global economic slowdown, exacerbated by the negative impact of trade-related uncertainty would eventually hurt U.S. growth prospects. By the end of April, major U.S. stock indexes had regained losses incurred during the 2018 fourth quarter correction. In fact, by June, markets proceeded to record new highs right after Chair Powell pivoted to easier policy by suggesting an interest-rate cut might be appropriate in the near future. Investors were relieved that all major central bankers were finally committed to extending the current economic cycle well into the future. The importance of even marginally lower interest rates has to be viewed in the context of poor earnings prospects for the current year, which some strategists went as far as labelling an 'earnings recession'. Without earnings growth, investors would need to rely on lower interest rates to lift valuations from current rich levels.

Recent Developments

(BASED ON INFORMATION AS AT JULY 19, 2019)

We enter the second half of the year witnessing the longest U.S. economic expansion on record, fueled by declining interest rates made possible by tepid inflation, despite the lowest unemployment rate in decades. It is not surprising that the record-breaking U.S. economy has been attracting global money flow away from other markets plagued by persistent problems. Two obvious examples being: the UK facing Brexit uncertainty, and economic potential in Canada being undermined by poor fundamentals in the vital energy industry. The Fund has maintained outsized exposure to the U.S. economy for several years now, by investing in large capitalization U.S. stocks with superior growth prospects, as well as Canadian companies servicing mostly U.S. customers. Inclusion of U.S. stocks has significantly improved the growth and liquidity profile of the Fund. Liquidity becomes paramount especially in an aging market, where fear of economic weakness deteriorating into a recession grows with each passing month. Current rich valuations have left markets vulnerable to bouts of sell-offs in reaction to mounting risks including the unresolved trade issues between China and U.S., political tensions with Iran and a presidential election campaign that will only grow in intensity and complexity as the year progresses.

We are concerned about the outlook for GDP growth (falling profits) and headline inflation (falling again). We have added a considerable amount of market hedges to the Fund through what may be a challenging summer.

Other Developments

Amendments to National Instrument 81-102 - Investment Funds that became effective January 3, 2019 (“Alternative Mutual Fund Amendments”) established alternative mutual funds and repealed large sections of National Instrument 81-104 Commodity Pools. With the Alternative Mutual Fund Amendments, the Fund became an alternative mutual fund which permits the Fund to use strategies generally prohibited to conventional mutual funds, such as the ability to invest more than 10% of its net asset value in securities of a single issuer, the ability to invest in physical commodities or specified derivatives, to borrow cash, to short sell beyond the limits prescribed for conventional mutual funds and to generally employ leverage. Effective May 21, 2019, the fund was renamed to Arrow Canadian Advantage Alternative Class.

Related Party Transactions

Arrow Capital Management Inc. is the Manager and Portfolio Advisor of the Fund. The Manager, in consideration for management fees and performance fees, provides management services required in the day-to-day operations of the Fund. The Fund also reimburses the Manager for any operating or administrative expenses the Manager pays on behalf of the Fund.

The Fund may invest in other funds also managed by the Manager. These investments will either be made into a series that does not pay management fees or the Manager may pay a rebate to the Fund or other fund to offset fees paid by the other fund to the Manager.

1. The net assets per share shown are referenced to net assets attributable to holders of redeemable shares determined in accordance with International Financial Reporting Standards ("IFRS") and are derived from the Fund's financial statements. The increase/decrease from operations is based on the weighted average number of shares outstanding over the financial period. This table is not intended to be a reconciliation of beginning to ending net assets per share.
2. Distributions, if applicable, were reinvested in additional shares of the Fund at the discretion of the underlying shareholders.
3. Management expense ratio is based on total expenses (excluding certain taxes, commissions and other Fund transaction costs) for the stated year and is expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the year. The management expense ratio is calculated in accordance with Part 15 of NI 81-106 and therefore includes performance fees, which were previously reported separately as dollar amounts.

4. The Manager may absorb certain expenses or waive certain fees otherwise payable by the Fund. The amount of expenses absorbed or waived (if applicable) is determined annually at the discretion of the Manager and the Manager can terminate the absorption or waiver at any time.
5. The Fund's portfolio turnover rate can indicate how actively the investment advisor manages the portfolio of investments. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the Fund buying and selling all of its securities in its portfolio once in the course of the year. The higher the fund's portfolio turnover rate in a year, the greater the trading costs payable by the Fund in the year and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the year. There is not necessarily a relationship between a high turnover rate and the performance of the Fund.
6. The trading expense ratio represents total commissions and other portfolio transaction costs expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the period.
7. Ratios and supplemental data, where applicable, are computed using the net asset value of the Fund.
8. The management expense ratio, management expense ratio before waivers or absorptions and trading expense ratio for the years ended 2016 and 2015 have been restated to reflect the reclassification of certain custodial transaction costs related to the purchase and sale of securities.

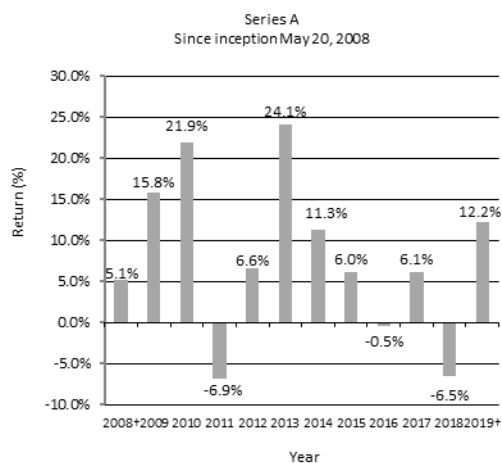

Past Performance

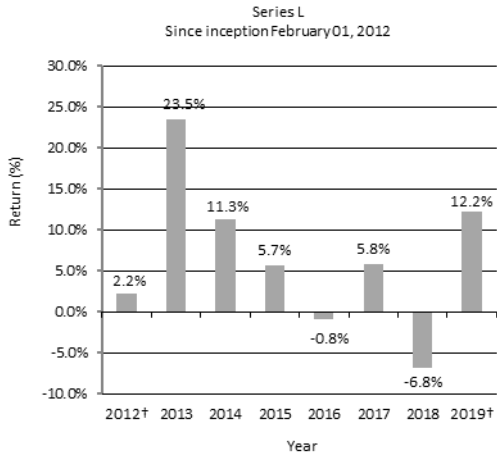

The performance information shown below assumes that all distributions, if any, made by the Fund in the periods shown were reinvested in additional shares of the Fund. If you hold the Fund outside a registered plan, you will be taxed on distributions. Distributions of income the Fund earns and capital gains it realizes are taxable in the year received whether received in cash or reinvested in additional shares. No adjustment for potential tax consequences to an investor has been made to the performance information.

The indicated rates of return are historical annual compounded total returns including changes in share value and do not take into account sale, redemption, distribution or other optional charges, that, if applicable, would have reduced returns or performance. An investment in the Fund is not guaranteed. Its value changes frequently and how the Fund has performed in the past does not necessarily indicate how it will perform in the future.

Year-By-Year Returns

The bar chart below illustrates the Fund's annual performance for each of the year(s) shown, and indicates how the Fund's performance has changed from year to year. It shows, in percentage terms, how much an investment made on the first day of each financial year would have grown or decreased by the last day of the financial year.

†Returns shown represent a partial year
